

2010: THE YEAR OF HONORING LESBIANS WITH DISABILITIES

When President Obama presented the 2009 Presidential Medal of Freedom to Harvey Milk and Billie Jean King, his actions publicly acknowledged something that many of us in the Bay Area have known for a long time:

LGBTQ rights are human rights.

Become a Co-Sponsor of 2010: "The Year of Honoring Lesbians with Disabilities" and BE PART OF HISTORY!

For the last 40 years, S.F. Bay Area lesbians with disabilities have been at the forefront of political, artistic and cultural change. Despite these significant accomplishments, most of this history has not been documented in any archive and is in danger of being lost.

Fabled Asp, a multi-cultural, multi-media project is documenting and celebrating the achievements of four generations of disabled lesbians making history in the Bay Area. We are leading our 2010 campaign with the collaboration of our partners GLBT Historical Society and the James C. Hormel Center of the San Francisco Public Library.

Thanks to the support of people like you, we have already documented and collected over 80 stories of disabled lesbians and allies. We need your continued financial support for this important work.

Photos: Cathy Cade | cathycade.com

Trib LaPrad

